Announce Plans For SAAF

Field to be Reactivated in March if Funds and Personnel Available

AP Special Washington Service

WASHINGTON, Feb. 3.—(P)—The War Department plans to reactivate Sedalia Army Air Field, Warrensburg, Mo., next March and locate a Troop Carrier group there if sufficient funds and personnel are available, Rep. Bennett (R-Mo) said today.

The airfield was placed on a temporarily inactive status last September 1.

Brig. Gen. Ralph F. Stearley, in a letter released by the congressman, said the installation has been selected tentatively for reactivation by the peacetime military establishment provided sufficient personnel and funds are available for its operation.

"It is anticipated," the general wrote, "that the installation will be reactivated in March of this year and will be utilized for a troop carrier group, which, by August, will be built up to full complement."

Word Here Last Week

A confidential announcement was received in Warrensburg and Sedalia a little more than a week ago from W. Stuart Symington, Assistant Secretary of War for Air, of the contemplated plan to activate the base in March.

A committee appointed last October, following an inspection visit of Assistant Secretary Symington, composed of Edwin C. Houx, chairman; Dr. D. H. Huettner, Mayor of Warrensburg; Mayor Walter Sibert, Knob Noster; Mayor Julian H. Kibby and D. Kelly Scruton, of Sedalia, has been working in interest of the plan as announced.

Report to Truman

Assistant Secretary Symington, October 28, made an inspection of the base, at which time he gave a most favorable report on the possibilities of its being reactivated. The following date Mr. Symington made a personal report on his trip to the S. A. A. F. to President Harry S. Truman, who also had been interested in the base and its possibilities of it being a permanent military installation.

The assistant secretary in company with Major General Elwood Quesada, of the Army Air Forces, plans to fly to the S. A. A. F. in March for an inspection, when Troop Carrier troops begin to arrive, it was said.

Prepare for Dash to Sea

PEIPING, Feb. 3.—(P)—Evacuation day for 2,000 Americans in Peiping is drawing near, with Chinese communist and government forces fighting along the route they must take to the sea.

The departure date of the U. S. Truce headquarters personnel and their wives and children is expected to be announced within 24 hours—a part of the general American withdrawal from China.

Unless a truce should end the fighting along the 115-mile route to the coast, they will have to leave by air which would mean abandoning much equipment in Peiping, or run the gauntlet on the Peiping-Tientsin railway under U. S. Marine guard.

The American staff of the now defunct peace-seeking headquarters here were informed that 5,000 Chinese communist guerrillas were attacking along the railroad yesterday. The Chinese government said it was still able to use the line. Government sources said the communist troops were active near the right-of-way some 20 miles southeast of Peiping.

Two Bodies, Two Prisoners

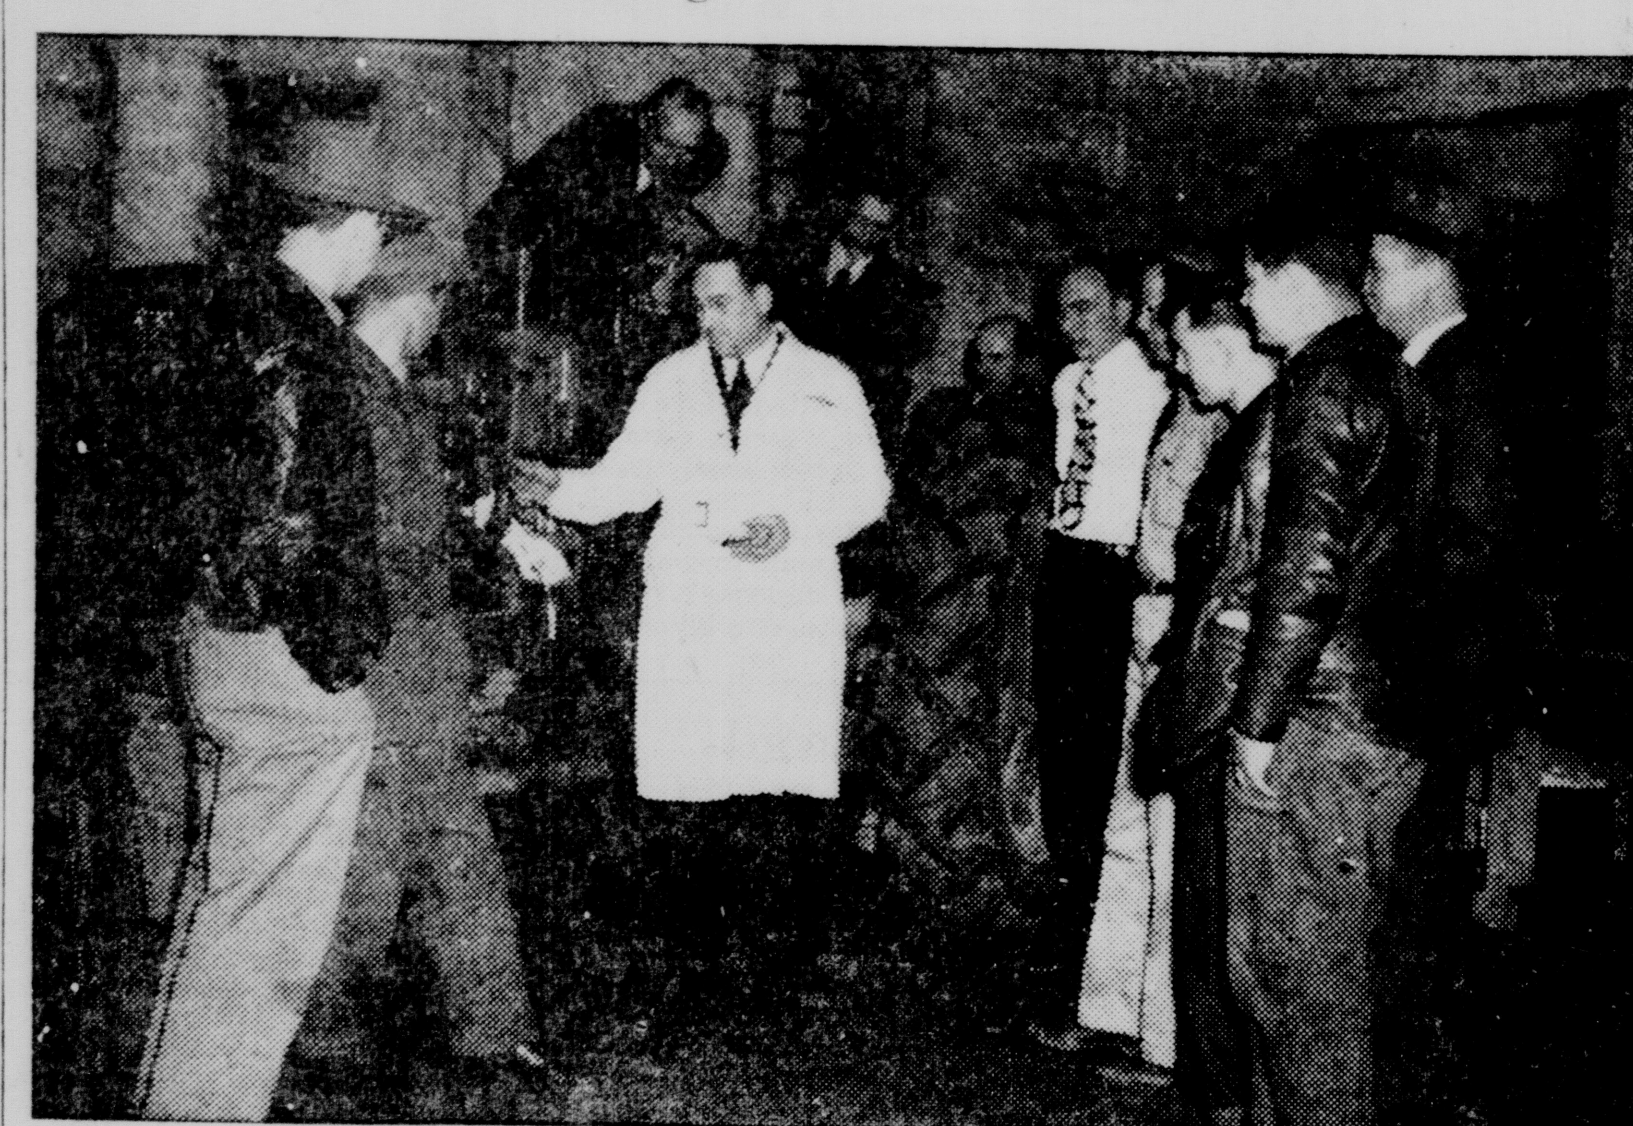

CHICAGO, Feb. 3.—(P)—Police had two bodies and two prisoners today of a quartet of safecrackers taken Saturday night, after an hour-long siege which saved 300 depositors of a currency exchange, an estimated $1,000,000.

The bodies were identified by Police Capt. Matthew Murphy as Richard A. Dolan, 32, Chicago and George D. Bliss, 39, Rockford, Ill., both ex-convicts. The prisoners, who surrendered about a half hour after 70 policemen surrounded the Exchange, were identified as John Walsh, alias Danny McGeoghegan, 51, and John O'Brien, alias Arthur Bullis, 35, of Chicago, also ex-convicts.

An inquest was to be held today in an effort to ascertain whether Dolan shot Bliss, then himself, rather than surrender to police. Dr. Jerry Kearns, coroner's physician, said his examination showed powder in Dolan's head, but none on the head wound of Bliss.

The safe crackers were surprised at their work by the policemen, who were tipped off by a janitor in the building.

Thirty-seven Boys Attend Tractor Class

School to Teach Maintenance Today and Tuesday

Thirty-seven leaders from 11 counties are in attendance at the 4-H Club Farm Tractor Maintenance Leader Training school being held here today and tomorrow. The school is being held in the supply room of the Adams Truck and Tractor company, 400 West Main street.

This school is being held cooperatively by the Standard Oil company who is represented by Kenneth Mebold, automotive engineer; C. W. Wright, public relations representative; and Charles Roop, district representative local machinery dealers including Elmer Adams, M. F. Wahrenbrock, Scudder Hull, C. H. Joy, John Harvey, Ray Hatfield and Carl Garanson and the Agriculture Extension Service represented by Marion Clark, agricultural extension engineer, and Virgil Burk, state 4-H club agent.

The counties with the leaders in attendance includes: Elmer Kiehl, assistant county agent, and Kirt Deardorff, Carroll county; Robert R. Stockton, associate county agent, and Walter Gerlt, Morgan county; T. O. Miller and Walter Huber, Barton county; C. O. Titus and Marvin Blay, Vernon county; Frank Graham, county agent, Pat McKenna, Lloyd Eckhoff, Robert Noel, Francis Wayman, Vernon Saxton from Johnson county; Paul Mayer, Paul H. Herman, Robert Long, Henry county; John E. Murphy, assistant county agent, B. C. Howard, Robert Stuckey and Frank Knell, Jasper county; Geo. LaRock, county agent, Carroll Kimble, Arnold Van Slyke, Arnold Carroll and Wayne Borland, Bates county; Hillard Neibuegg and Delmar Clark, Cooper county; Donald Scott, Saline county; E. P. Kruse, assistant county agent, J. U. Morris, county agent, John Youngkamp, Hershel Rissler, Elmer Gardner, Earl Paige, Elmer Harvey and John Harvey, Jr., Pettis county.

Eight Makes of Tractors

Eight makes of tractors are being used in the training school and a representative of the service department for each of these companies are giving the training to these leaders. The instructors are: R. H. Lininger, service division, International Harvester Co., Kansas City, Mo.; A. C. Nichols, Jr., service division, Minneapolis-Moline Power Implement Co., Kansas City, Mo.; J. B. McCormick, service division, J. I. Case Co., Kansas City, Mo.; James O'Brien, service division, Ford Motor Co., Springfield, Mo.; Carl Garanson, manager, Montgomery Ward Farm store, F. B. Avery Co., H. E. Logan, service manager, Thompson Motor Co., Oliver Row-Crop; R. W. Henry, service manager, John Deere Plow Co., Kansas City, Mo.; Russell Carter, service manager, Allis-Chalmers Manufacturing Co., Kansas City, Mo.

The school started with a get-together meeting at the Bothwell hotel last night at which time those in attendance saw two pictures, one on "Tractor Maintenance" and the other, "Magic in Agriculture."

The work section started this morning and the day was devoted to tractor safety, the operator manual, improved tractor Power on the Farm; fuel intake and carburetion; air cleaner service; spark plug, wiring and battery service.

The subjects to be studied and discussed Tuesday will include cooling system service; winterizing the farm tractor; engine lubrication, transmission and final drive lubrication and general lubrication of the tractor.

A general meeting will be held tonight at the Bothwell hotel when another series of pictures will be shown to the group.

Kansas City Star Resumes Publication After 17 Days

KANSAS CITY, Feb. 3.—(P)—The Kansas City Star, this city's only regular morning and afternoon daily newspaper, resumed publication today after a 17-day lapse resulting from a contract carriers' strike.

The striking carriers, members of the International Printing Pressmen and Assistants Union (AFL), had asked recognition of the union as their bargaining agent. The Star contended the carriers were independent merchants and not employees.

An agreement in the dispute was reached Saturday at Pressman's Home, Tenn., where management and union representatives conferred. An announcement of the settlement said:

"A study of the legal status of the carriers is to be made. Members of the carriers association are to resume distribution of the paper as before the strike. The management has agreed that there will be no discrimination against the carriers participating in the strike. An increase in wages for the pressmen that has been under discussion was agreed upon."

Extra Pages of Comics

Pressmen and composing room employees had declined to cross the carriers' picket line. The striking carriers finally were prevented from picketing by a restraining order obtained by non-striking carriers who said they were being put out of business as independent merchants by "a conspiracy to restrain trade."

The Star's first edition, larger than the usual Monday morning newspaper, devoted 12 pages to back comic strips — four pages to the daily strips and eight to the Sunday colored comics.

Youth Suffers Heart Attack

Marvin Cecil Mitchell, 18, Gallatin, Mo., was stricken ill at the Missouri Pacific bus depot about 3:45 o'clock this morning when in a rest room. The young man was en route from Kansas City to Ottumwa to visit Mr. and Mrs. Lawrence Wilson and family.

He had gotten off the bus and gone to the rest room, where he collapsed. He was taken to the Bothwell hospital, where today his condition was reported to be about the same.

It was said by the police he had suffered a heart attack.

British Wife and Son Join Husband

Mrs. Christine Turner and 13-month-old son, Stewart, arrived here Sunday evening. Mrs. Turner is the British wife of Mr. E. Turner, 1101 East Fifth street. Her home was formerly Chesterfield, England. She and her son left England January 19 and arrived in New York January 29. From New York they came to Sedalia.

Mr. Turner, who arrived in the states in July of 1946, is employed at the Sedalia Typewriter company.

Bothwell Hospital Notes

Father U. J. Landoll, Cole Camp, and Marvin C. Mitchell, Gallatin, admitted for medical treatment.

Clarence Estes, Knob Noster, admitted for surgery.

Carolyn Morgan, 919 East Broadway, and E. D. Martin, Fairfield, admitted for tonsillectomy.

Mrs. Forest Poague, Warrensburg; Mrs. Harry Lutjen, Route 2, Sedalia; Mrs. Harry Trotman, 814 South Massachusetts avenue; Harry L. Farris, 126 South Stewart avenue; Mrs. Robert Pelley, Warrensburg; W. E. Cashman, Houstonia, and N. A. Lane, Route 4, Sedalia, dismissed today.

Mrs. T. H. Roberts, 410 Wilkeson street, died February 2.

Judge's Daughter Jerks Soda

ALEXANDRIA, Va., Feb. 3.—(P)—Millie Douglas, 17-year-old daughter of Supreme Court Justice William O. Douglas, says she meets "a lot of interesting people" on her part-time job as a "soda jerk."

She's been on the job five months, working Saturdays, Sundays and some evenings. And very few of the customers she serves are aware that she is a

It's Official, Six Weeks More Winter

By the Associated Press
It's now official — there'll be six more weeks of winter. Pennsylvania's three famed groundhogs saw their shadows yesterday.

The so-called weather prognosticators crept out of their holes at Quarryville, Punxsutawney and Allentown — took one quick look at the falling snow, and the shadows, and scurried back for six more weeks of winter slumber.

Charles F. Hess, hibernating governor of the Ancient Order of Slumbering Lodge of Groundhogs, said 60 prophets, patriarchs and scouts — wearing stove pipe hats, night shirts and carrying shepherd's staves — tramped to their woodchuck's den and saw him see his shadow.

'Should Quit' CIO Official Tells Maj. Gen.

Of Opinion he Should Have Called For Adequate Staff

WASHINGTON, Feb. 3.—(P)—James B. Carey, secretary-treasurer of the CIO, told senators today the testimony of Maj. Gen. Philip B. Fleming on a general rent increase was "sufficient to call for his resignation" as chief of the office of temporary controls.

Carey referred to Fleming's statement to the senate banking committee during last week that while he felt no overall rent increase was justified, he was prepared to order one because OPA did not have a big enough staff to handle individual adjustments.

Carey told the banking committee today that Fleming should have asked congress for an adequate staff, rather than deciding upon a general increase as the solution.

In testifying last week, Fleming took full responsibility for a never-issued order for a 10 percent rent increase. The order was quashed by President Truman.

Carey also told the committee a boost in rent ceilings now — while labor unions are trying to work out "harmonious" wage agreements — "will have the gravest effect."

He said "this point cannot be overemphasized."

The committee is conducting hearings on legislation to increase rent ceilings by 15 percent. Also before it are bills which would end rent control.

Carey said junking of controls would mean "a cut in the real wages of American workers" and hence "would markedly affect the present delicate state of collective bargaining negotiations."

He said that to the average worker a 15 percent rent increase would mean "a further increase of three or four percent in his day-to-day living expenses."

Before Carey testified, the National Association of Real Estate Boards urged the senate group to favor immediate scrapping of rent controls on dwellings and an "across the board" rent increase on existing units.

From Senator Flanders (R-Vt) came a proposal for a graduated hike in rent ceilings. He announced he has prepared a bill allowing a five per cent increase every four months. At the end of 16 months, when the rise was 20 percent, he would abolish the ceilings.

Flanders told a news conference his plan would be workable and would encourage new building.

BPWC Meeting On Thursday

Scott Weber, manager of the Social Security Administration, Sedalia office, will be the guest speaker at the dinner meeting of the Sedalia Business and Professional Women's Club, at the Bothwell hotel, at 6:30 o'clock Thursday evening. His subject will be "Your Social Security."

Music will be by the Sedalia Men's Choral club.

The finance committee is in charge of the program. Its members are: Mrs. Everett White, Miss Mary Shanks, Miss Erma Fajen, Mrs. Regina Franken, Mrs. Raymond Goddard, Miss Margaret Grady, Mrs. R. C. Lippard, Miss Thelma Brunkhorst.

Fire Threatened to Destroy Town of Tracy

TRACY, Mo., Feb. 3.—(P)—Volunteer firemen laid hose to the Platte river in a fight against the threat to destroy this town of 230 population last night. Five fire trucks from neighboring cities aided 150 volunteer firemen in fighting the blaze which caused an estimated $20,000 damage.

The A. J. Higgins Lumber company and an antique shop owned by Ed Faulk were destroyed in the blaze which raged for an hour and one-half after trucks arrived from North Kansas City, Smithville, Platte City, Weston and Leavenworth, Kas.

L. L. Studer to Speak in Kansas

L. L. Studer, district storekeeper Missouri Pacific Lines, will leave Sedalia Feb. 5, for Yates Center, Kas., where he is scheduled to deliver an after dinner address to the business and railroad men of Yates Center, the evening of February 6. Studer is also scheduled to deliver an after dinner address on the Omaha division the latter part of this month.

Challenge to US Authority

TOKYO, Feb. 3.—(P)—A threatened general strike definitely was off today but there still existed an unprecedented challenge to General MacArthur's authority by leftist labor leaders.

These little men in shabby clothes who lead 2,500,000 workers sought to bypass MacArthur, who forbade the strike, by appealing to the far eastern commission, which formulates occupation policy.

This appeal cannot be considered before the Feb. 19 meeting of the advisory council, through which it is to be relayed.

A government spokesman, in meantime, termed MacArthur's order "a matter of extreme regret" but at the same time conceded it was necessary.

Miss Palmer is Bar President

Miss Hazel Palmer was elected president of the Sedalia Bar Association at a meeting of the association in the circuit court room this morning. Other officers elected are: Vice president, William F. Brown, secretary-treasurer, Roy J. Schick.

D. S. Lamm, chairman of the Lawyer's Welfare committee of the Missouri Bar Association, reported on a meeting of the association held Friday in Jefferson City, and of the work of his committee. Earl Crawford and Miss Palmer, who also attended the meeting, spoke on "Code and Evidence" and "Municipal Bar," respectively.

Mr. Lamm, who is governor of the third district, announced there will be a meeting of the district at Excelsior Springs in April, some time between the 15th and 30th, the exact time to be announced later.

Coal Shortage Closes Plant

LONDON, Feb. 3.—(P)—The Austin Motor company, a leading export concern, announced today its Birmingham plant would close tomorrow because of the critical coal shortage, and that at least 15,000 of its 17,000 employees would be laid off.

The slack yield from the coal mines, recently socialized by the labor government, also forced 140 West Riding industrial firms, mostly in the textile trade and employing about 30,000 persons, to slow operations to three or four days this week.

Steel operations were reported down 15 per cent because of fuel shortages.

Conservative newspapers speculated that the economic crisis might wreck the Attlee government within a few months.

Cabinet members said further unemployment and food cuts were inevitable unless the people worked harder and produced more goods for export.

Severe Cold Wave Coming

By the Associated Press
A new cold wave, probably the severest and most prolonged yet this winter, was racing down across the northern great plains from western Canada today with prospects that it would carry as far southward as the Texas Panhandle and Ohio River Valley by tomorrow.

"Temperatures are falling at an astounding rate in the storm area," the Chicago weather bureau reported. At Dickinson, N. D., the mercury had skidded from a high of 41 yesterday to 15 below zero this morning and was still falling.

Died Early Today

Admiral Marc A. Mitscher, commander in chief of the Atlantic fleet, died today at the Norfolk Naval Station hospital, Norfolk, Virginia.

Commander of Atlantic Fleet is Dead

NORFOLK, Va., Feb. 3.—(P)—Admiral Marc A. Mitscher, commander in chief of the Atlantic fleet, died at the Norfolk naval station hospital early today of coronary thrombosis.

The war-time boss of famed Task Force 58 which played havoc with the Japanese, died in his sleep at 1:20 a. m. He was admitted to the hospital after suffering a heart attack on his sixtieth birthday last Sunday.

Rear Admiral W. L. Ainsworth, commandant of the fifth naval district, announcing Mitscher's death shortly after 8 a. m., quoted a bulletin issued by the hospital as saying that "the special nurse on duty reported that the admiral had been sleeping quietly, but shortly after 1 a. m. he ceased breathing."

"The time of death was officially reported as 1:20 a. m. and the cause of death was thrombosis, coronary artery."

Went For Checkup

Mitscher entered the hospital last week for what a fleet spokesman said would be a "complete and thorough checkup." On January 28 the fleet spokesman described the admiral's condition as "very good."

Mitscher, soft-spoken, but a hard hitting, determined fighting man, had a personal hand in many spectacular and important actions against the enemy in the Pacific and his admirers claimed that he put tempo on the war against Japan into high gear with his Task Force 58's first carrier blows at Truk and the Marianas in February of 1944.

In those attacks the navy tested its newly-built carrier power for the first time against strong Japanese strongholds and exploded the myth of their invincibility.

Smashed Plane Plants

Mitscher's swift marauding task force had the entire Pacific ocean to the ground of Japan as its stamping ground and his carrier planes smashed vital enemy aircraft plants and chased the Japanese air force to cover while pounding at Tokyo and vicinity early in 1945.

He was the skipper of the aircraft carrier Hornet, the "Shangri-La" from which Lt. Col. (and later Lt. Gen.) James Doolittle launched his Mitchell bombers for the raid on Tokyo and four other Japanese cities April 18, 1942.

From April 1 to July 25, 1943, the period when army, navy and marine fliers won air supremacy in the South Pacific, Mitscher was commander of aircraft in the Solomon Islands.

He became a vice admiral on March 21, 1944.

Control over building materials (which would continue to June 30 under the act), can be continued until the year-end under the Patman Emergency Housing Act. The chemicals order would be eliminated.

Controls Required

Imported Industrial Materials—Allocation control will be required after March 31 on imported cinchona bark and cinchona alkaloids (such as quinine), rubber, manila (cane) and agave fiber and cordage, tin and antimony. Natural rubber will "probably continue in short supply throughout the world in 1947." The supply of tin will not approximate demand until some time in 1948.

Freight Cars—Shortage is "extremely serious" and will increase as nation's production increases. Allocation is necessary to insure a "provident use of rail transportation facilities."

Other Shortages—Continued allocation control is needed over supplies of automobiles, tractors and streptomycin. May be necessary to continue limitations on domestic production of autos and tractors for export.

Critical Materials—Priorities assistance should be continued to expand production in foreign countries of some critical materials needed in U. S.

Unsettling for Both Business and Public To Wait Final Action By Congress, He Says

WASHINGTON, Feb. 3.—(P)—President Truman asked Congress today for a one-year extension beyond March 3 of parts of the Second War Powers Act providing government controls which he wants continued for these reasons:

Grain — World cereal supplies are "still far short of essential needs." Allocation powers must be continued to insure adequate supplies to war-devastated countries and to prevent "disease and unrest" in Germany and Japan. Controls also are needed to insure economies in the non-food uses of cereals in this country.

Rice — World export supplies are shorter than other grains. The United States has "export responsibilities to areas of particular concern to us," such as Cuba, Puerto Rico and the Philippines.

Sugar and Related Products — World shortage is of "outstanding concern." Both U. S. domestic and international interests require continuation of domestic and import controls over sugar and edible molasses and sirups. Only import controls are needed over other sugar products and inedible molasses.

Fats and Oils — Import and export controls are needed to insure that the U. S. and other countries receive a "proportionate share of this short world supply."

Other Foods — Continued import controls appear to be necessary on meat and meat products, dairy products, peas and beans, canned fish and protein foods. These controls are necessary to "carry out international understandings."

Imports

Imported Materials — Rubber, tin, antimony, cinchona bark and alkaloids, manila an agave fiber.

U. S. Products — Automobiles and tractors (quota limits on export); freight cars; the drug streptomycin.

Mr. Truman did not ask extension of inventory control, the government's wartime weapon against the "withholding" of goods from market.

The two other "titles" of the act which should be retained, said Mr. Truman's message, are those which (1) allow the Maritime Commission to run shipping lines and (2) permit the operation of ships with less crew and equipment than in ordinary times of peace.

"It is unsettling, both for business and for the general public, to be obliged to wait until the last possible moment for decision by the congress on emergency legislation," Mr. Truman said.

"I urge the congress to give immediate and favorable consideration to the limited extension of the second War Powers Act I have requested."

Would Affect Foods

He reported that "we can now foresee the day when no further use of these powers will be necessary," but said the "effective completion" of reconversion demands the continued use of the powers set forth.

All foods now controlled by the agriculture department would remain under restrictions but inane edible molasses, used largely for industrial alcohol, would be freed. Only a few of the materials subject to orders of the Civilian Production Administration would be freed, and many of these controls are dead letters already.

Thus, the iron and steel order would die, but steel allocation is now sparingly used; the uranium order would expire, but the Atomic Energy Commission is authorized to take over atomic energy materials.

Control over building materials (which would continue to June 30 under the act), can be continued until the year-end under the Patman Emergency Housing Act. The chemicals order would be eliminated.

Contract for Christman

CHICAGO, Feb. 3.—(P)—Pitcher Paul Christman, star quarterback for two seasons, has signed a 1947 contract with the Chicago Cardinals of the National Football League. Owner Charles Bidwell announced today.

The Cardinals now have five backs signed for next season, including Halfback Charley Trippi, University of Georgia All-American, who reportedly inked a four-year, $100,000 contract on January 17.

Other ball carriers in the fold are Fullback Pat Harder, an outstanding rookie last season, and Halfbacks Vic Schwall and Jack MacKenzie, from Northwestern University's 1946 team.

Christman, former University of Missouri star, completed 100 of 229 passes for 1,656 yards and 13 touchdowns last season.

Labor-Management Agreement A Step Forward

By James Marlow
WASHINGTON, Feb. 3.—(P)—Here's an ABC on the labor-management agreement in the building industry.

President Truman considered it so important that he called a special news conference Saturday to announce it.

It is a step toward labor-management peace. It shows a desire on both sides to get along.

But it is not a 100 per cent guarantee against trouble. It should be considered cautiously with a wait and see how its works attitude.

For this reason:
There's an outstanding point in the agreement—to be explained here—which could make the spirit of the agreement meaningless.

The agreement was made by:
1. The Associated General Contractors of America, representing management in the construction industry.

2. And the AFL's building and construction trades department, representing 19 big unions with 2,000,000 workers.

SPORTS ROUNDUP

By Hugh Fullerton, Jr.
NEW YORK, Feb. 3.—(P)—Popular pastime during lulls in the baseball writers' festivities last night was composing new army football songs such as "On Brave Old Army Team, On to the Pros" and "No Leave, No Nothin'". . . . But there were a lot more cheers than bores for Glenn Davis when he came out to sprint in Saturday's Milrose track meet and we heard one fan express the hope that the West Point trio would be allowed to play pro ball so he'd get a chance to see "Junior" lug the ball. . . . Georgia Tech's Bill Alexander proposes to support football by taxation in order to eliminate commercial aspects. . . . That really would put the pressure on ticket managers and coaches if every taxpayer figured he was entitled to a seat on the 50 yard line and a voice in firing the coach.

Monday Matinee
Story heard hereabouts is that Ray Evans, Kansas U's All Big Six tailback, is thinking about leaving school for pro football. This report says Ray is willing to try on a Chicago Bears' uniform for size if a certain offer is boosted a little into the five-figure class. The Newark Bears plan to take 26 pitchers to training camp. Business Manager Parke Carroll figures that will be enough to get them through the opening game. . . . Basketball experts looking for records that the Philadelphia warriors' Joe Fulks may break found that Willie Kummer pitched in 1404 points for Connelville in the old Central league in 1911-12. Kummer shot all the free throws for his team and made 938 points that way.

Star Border
The youthful umpires in the Border league had plenty of trouble with the fans last season, especially with excitable French-Canadians in the Quebec cities. . . . But one veteran turned up who showed them how to handle situations. . . . He was a veteran groundskeeper who was pressed into emergency service one evening. . . . His first close decision cost the home team a run and the customers made a vigorous show of displeasure. . . . The substitute ump called time, summoned a couple of players with bats for a bodyguard and marched to his car parked just outside the grounds. . . . A moment later he returned with a huge Stilson wrench, laid it beside home plate and called "play ball." . . . There wasn't another sign of a disturbance during the game.

362 Amateurs
Await the Gong
ST. LOUIS, Feb. 3.—(P)—A record field of 362 amateur fighters awaited the gong today for the 12th annual St. Louis Golden Gloves tournament which will open with 176 fights in three rings at the Arena, starting at 6:30 p. m.

The field will be reduced to 56 in eliminations tonight, Tuesday and Wednesday nights, with the champion bouts scheduled for Friday night.

Twenty-eight clubs in St. Louis and ten out-of-town communities are represented in the big field. The latter are Hannibal, Moberly, Herculaneum, the Lead Belt, Ste. Genevieve, Cape Girardeau, Lillbourn and Poplar Bluff, Mo., and East St. Louis and Quincy in Illinois. All entrants were winners in their hometown tournaments.

The large number of St. Louisians who qualified include 43 from the South Broadway Athletic club, winners of the team championship for the past three years.

Powerful Animal
A tiger is able to drag a full-grown buffalo uphill, through dense jungle, and may even carry its victim for short distances.

To take testimony in a mine disaster at Johannesburg, South Africa, a police court session was held on the 27th level of a gold mine more than 7000 feet underground.

Designs on the wings of butterflies inspired patterns for some of the famous shawls of India and Kashmir.

It can go to arbitration only by "mutual" consent. If one side refuses to go to arbitration, it can't go there.

Then how could such a dispute be settled? As in the past: By strike or lockout.

A number of big unions—such as the Amalgamated Clothing Workers with 350,000 members—have arbitration agreements, but not by "mutual" consent.

In the case of the clothing workers if only one side—boss or union—wants to settle it by arbitration, it must go to arbitration.

The Amalgamated Clothing Workers have had these arbitration agreements since 1910. They haven't had a major strike in 25 years.

The International Ladies Garment Workers Union has a similar arbitration agreement.

Two of the ILGWU arbitrators were the late Harry Hopkins, friend of President Roosevelt, and the late Jimmy Walker, one-time New York mayor.)

Purpose of Agreement

The purpose of the agreement is this:
To settle disputes peacefully without strikes or work stoppages by the unions or plant shutdowns by employers. For example:
A union and an employer can't agree on a new contract or they can't settle a dispute about an existing contract.

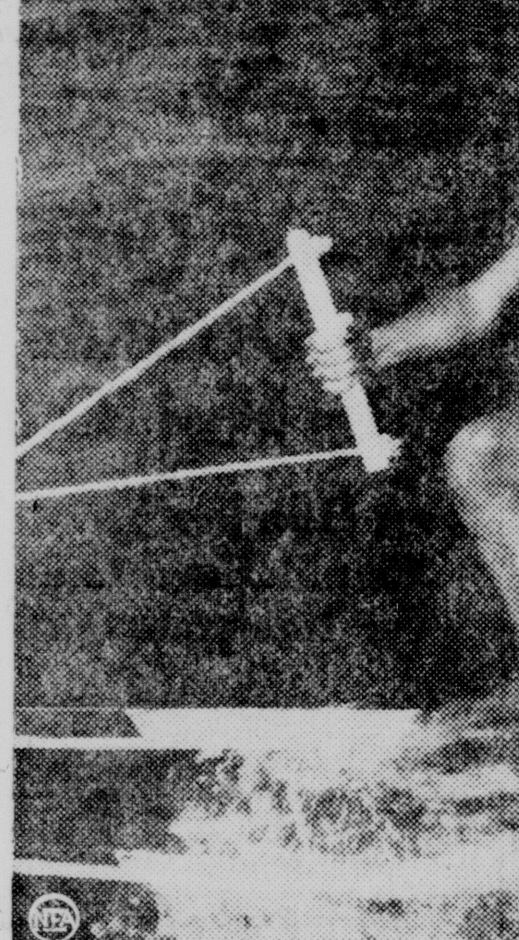

Instead of strike or lockout as the next step, both sides can take the case to a special committee which sits as a board of arbitration.

This committee, already set up by management and labor, hears both sides and gives a decision. The decision is final. Both sides must accept.

But here is the point which could make the spirit of the agreement meaningless:
Must Agree on Arbitration

A dispute can't be taken to the arbitration committee for settlement unless the union and employer both agree to take it to arbitration.

Novices Vie
For Honors
KANSAS CITY, Feb. 3.—(P)—Some 200 open and novice boxers, representing the states of Missouri, Kansas, Arkansas and Iowa, will vie for honors in the twelfth annual Golden Gloves tournament of champions here February 10, 11, 12 and 15.

Seventeen centers are already listed as in the fold, including Des Moines, Ia., Fort Smith, Ark.; Springfield, Eldon, Joplin, Chillicothe, Wentworth Military Academy, St. Joseph, Jefferson City, Richmond, and Kansas City, of Missouri; and Topeka, Pittsburg, Hutchinson, Independence, Haskell Indian Institute, and Kansas City, Kansas.

One of the most talented of the young fighters will be Irish Patsy Bryant of Richmond, Mo., who won the flyweight title of Japan while serving in the U. S. Navy.

Inspect and Classify Herd
Brattleboro, Vt.—Wallace Cordes, Sedalia, has recently had his herd inspected and classified for type, the Holstein-Friesian Association of America announces today.

The inspection was conducted by Clair I. Miller, Medina, Ohio, one of the nine officials appointed by the Association to do this work in the United States.

Among the animals classified in this herd, two were designated "good-plus"—the third highest score an animal can receive.

The type classification, combined with a production testing program, is used as a means of proving sires and locating outstanding brood cow families in an owner's herd.

LADY'S ARM WAS BENT UP DOUBLE LIKE A JACK-KNIFE

One lady recently stated that her arm used to become doubled up like a jack-knife. She couldn't move her arm up or down because her muscles were stiff with rheumatic pains and the joints of her elbow and shoulder were swollen. She said she was ashamed to leave her house because people would stare at her. Finally she got RHU-AID and says she now can raise her arm above her head and the swelling left her elbow and shoulder. The awful pain and stiffness is gone. She is enjoying life once more and feels like "some other woman" since taking this New Compound.

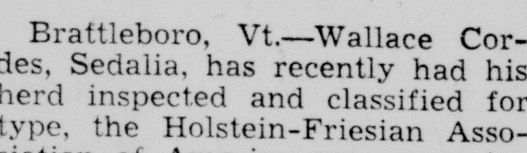

RHU-AID contains Three Great Medicinal Ingredients which go right to the very source of rheumatic aches and pains. Miserable people soon feel different all over. So don't go on suffering! Get RHU-AID. Sold by All Drug Stores here in Sedalia.

Japanese-American Girl Gets Kimono, Gives Away a Girdle, on Her First Visit to Japan

By NEA Service

NEW YORK (NEA)—Kathryn Okada is back in the U. S. with a fancy Japanese kimono, and her niece in Japan is wearing an American gray flannel suit.

This east-to-west, and vice-versa, switch came about when Kathryn made her first trip to Japan as the only Japanese-American among USO-Camp Shows theatrical personnel to visit that occupied country.

Kathryn, who hails from Pittsburgh by way of Texas, where her Japanese-American parents live, got to see her two half-sisters and her uncle for the first time when she hit Tokyo.

There the kimono-for-suit exchange took place. "And I gave my sister a girdle, which she called a 'stocking-holder-upper' and told me she'd wanted one all her life," Kathryn says.

Although she found most all the Japanese girls and women—including her relatives—eager for American-style clothes, she thinks the veneer of "westernization" is pretty thin.

In their own homes, the women are living and doing just about as they have always done. My aunt and cousin cooked dinner when I visited them, but never sat at the table with me and my uncle. I used to ask 'can't we all eat together,' but it never did any good."

The unhappiest people she found in Japan were the young American-born Japanese who had to accompany their parents back to the home islands. They want to come back to the U. S., says Kathryn.

Back in the U. S. after her first look at Japan, Kathryn Okada, Japanese-American singer, shows off the kimono she swapped with her niece for flannel suit. Patricia Jenkins of Philadelphia gives Kathryn a hand with the obi.

Krug Reports To Truman

WASHINGTON, Feb. 3.—(AP)—Secretary of the Interior Krug told President Truman today that some private utilities and large land companies are "trying to tear down" laws providing low-cost public power and small farms for veterans.

Krug, in his first annual report, also called for:

1. Continued reclamation efforts. He said irrigation of large additional regions will be necessary to meet the food needs of the 20,000,000 expected to be added to the population by 1967.

2. Seeding and improvement of the meat producing western range lands. He asked that range used for military purposes during the war be rehabilitated and returned to grazers.

3. A nation-wide inventory of mineral reserves and their commercial value. He said that this might cost $1,000,000,000 and take 20 years, but would be worth it.

4. Establishment of a Hawaiian laboratory to study resources of the Central Pacific. He said this is the "greatest untapped fishery resource in the world."

5. Construction of the controversial St. Lawrence seaway, to link the Great Lakes area with the Atlantic ocean and to generate electric power.

Tearful Time
EL PASO, Texas, Feb. 3.—(AP)—Police answering a call on White Oak street found the neighborhood literally crying for help.

Investigation showed that boys playing on a vacant lot had stumbled across more than a dozen tear gas canisters, presumably old army equipment.

The boys broke several, and the wind did the rest.

HEY KIDS!

Are you hep to party lines?

Young Americans (teen agers, that is) go for the telephone in a big way. School work, dates, gang activities keep the lines humming. Telephoning helps keep the guys and gals hep to the score.

And that's O.K. with us. Don't shy away from the phone. It's there to use. But we'd like to go into a huddle with you undergraduates on one point—Party Lines!

The general rule is "Give the other guy on your line a break." Talk, but not too long at a time. Hang up for a while between calls so he can get in his nickel's worth if he wants to.

The old golden rule works pretty well on party lines and you'll be in the groove if you follow it.

Desperado is Slain by Two Policemen

Escaped Tulsa Jail; Boasted he Would Not Die in Chair

TULSA, Okla., Feb. 3.—(AP)—Victor Lloyd Everhart made good his boast that he would never die in the electric chair for slaying two Tulsa policemen, but the 23-year-old desperado's body lay in a morgue today, riddled by buckshot and bullets.

Three Oklahoma highway patrolmen killed Everhart yesterday on a highway 40 miles east of here, less than two hours after he and five others overpowered two guards and escaped from the Tulsa City jail.

Two of the escaped prisoners were still missing today. The three others were recaptured 30 miles south of here yesterday.

Everhart was being held here on murder charges arising from the slaying of Detective S. R. Cormack and wounding of another detective, Ben Johnson, in a gun fight in Tulsa September 12.

Johnson recovered, then died recently of a heart attack. Authorities filed a second murder charge against Everhart, on grounds that the wound had hastened Johnson's death.

Admitted Slaying Police said the young gunman admitted slaying a Seneca, Mo., night marshal last September. He was also wanted on homicide, kidnapping and armed robbery charges in Indiana.

"I'll never burn," he boasted. Everhart separated from his fellows after they left the jail. Brandishing a pistol, he commanded a taxi driven by Lester Hughes, 29, in which the driver's wife, Lois, 22, also was riding.

Near Chouteau, Okla., he forced Hughes to swerve past a Highway Patrol road block, but three patrolmen overtook them when a tire blowout halted the taxi.

Everhart dragged Mrs. Hughes from the car and tried to use her for a shield. Hughes leaped out and struck him. The fugitive grappled with Hughes and tried to keep him in line of fire, but the patrolmen out-manuevered him and dropped him with one burst of shots.

Conceded Good Shooting Stray bullets inflicted flesh wounds in the taxi driver's leg and shoulder, but he conceded the patrolmen—Carl Pugh, Benny Klutts and Marion Son—"sure did good shooting."

One of the recaptured trio is James O. Neely, 17, of Dayton, O., who, with Everhart, was accused of murder in the shooting of the Tulsa detectives.

The others recaptured were James Billie, 16, Tulsa, charged with forgery; and Edgar Mayhugh, 30, Tulsa, accused of car theft. Still at large are Carl Baker, 24, San Diego, Cal., charged with armed robbery, and Raymond Wilson, 23, Chicago, held for federal authorities on a Dyer act car theft charge.

Strike Enters Second Week

WEST FRANKFORT, Ill., Feb. 3.—(AP)—The strike of 37 faculty members of the West Frankfort high school entered its second week today.

Efforts to settle the strike over the week end were fruitless, but a spokesman for the teachers said some progress had been made in negotiations with the board of education.

"We are not far apart," said Edgar Bain, president of the American Federation of Teachers Local 817, of which the teachers are members. "The only difficulty remaining is the monetary consideration. We intend to remain out until that is settled, or at least until we get a better offer."

The teachers rejected a board offer of an immediate wage increase of $100 annually and a like increase in the event the Illinois legislature passes a pending bill providing additional funds for schools. The teachers are seeking a $400 increase.

Further negotiation meetings are scheduled for this week. Meanwhile, 1,000 students are enjoying an unscheduled vacation.

New Trial After 14 Years

WASHINGTON, Feb. 3.—(AP)—Fourteen years after the event, the Supreme Court today ordered a new trial for a Michigan boy who was accused of murder, tried and sentenced to life imprisonment all on the same day.

In a unanimous, unsigned opinion, the court held that through the speed of that procedure, the defendant, Rene De Meerleer, was deprived of rights essential to a fair hearing under the federal Constitution.

De Meerleer was charged in Lenawee county circuit court in Adrian, Mich., with the robbery-slitting of a gasoline station attendant. He was 17 years old at the time. His attorney told the Supreme Court that "the word 'guilty' was literally put into his mouth" in the county court.

The Supreme Court's opinion said: "Here (in this case) a 17-year-old defendant confronted by a serious and complicated criminal charge was hurried through unfamiliar legal proceedings without a word being said in his defense.

"At no time was assistance of counsel offered or mentioned to him, nor was he apprised of the consequences of his plea of guilty."

Considerable Damage to Cars

Considerable damage resulted to two cars, about 12:45 o'clock Sunday morning, when one ran into the other, which was parked in front of 1111 West Broadway. The cars were those of Gen. John C. McLaughlin, 312 West Sixth street, which was parked, and that of Forest Williams, Syracuse, driven by Howard Williams, 18, of Syracuse.

Williams was arrested by the police for driving a car without a driver's license, and this morning was fined $1 and costs by Magistrate William Ilgenfritz. Williams pleaded guilty to the charge.

According to the police accident report, Williams was driving east on Broadway and ran into the rear of the McLaughlin car, which was parked on the south side of Broadway and headed east.

Williams told the police a car was approaching from the east and crowded him to the curb and he was unable to avoid striking the McLaughlin car.

Six Boys Die In Car Crash

SENECA, Mo., Feb. 3.—(AP)—Six farm youths of near Seneca, ranging in age from 16 to 19, were killed at the Main street crossing here Saturday night in the collision of their car and the east-bound Frisco Meteor, a passenger train.

The dead: Cecil Woodard, Jr.; Fred Wilson, Billy Golden, Max Lankford, Morris Lankford and Kenneth Cox.

Coroner Corley Thompson said the youths, with a half-mile view of the track, apparently misjudged the speed of the train, which does not stop at Seneca. Thompson said the train was traveling about 60 miles an hour.

Wreckage of the car was strewn three-quarters of a mile before the train was halted.

Thompson said the youths were starting home after seeing a movie.

Mrs. George Stohr in Research Hospital

Mrs. George Stohr, 510 West Sixth street, was taken to Kansas City hospital by Mr. Stohr, where today she was to undergo an operation at Research hospital. Physicians had stated it would be necessary to give her blood transfusions, and four Sedaliaans went to Kansas City Sunday to give blood. They were Pat Handley, Allan Pledge, Dorsey Schupp and Robert Smith. Members of Highway Patrol Troop A are also standing by to give more blood if needed.

Traffic Cages

Three traffic bonds were forfeited in police court this morning when defendants failed to appear before Police Judge W. E. Scotten. The bonds of one dollar each were those of Mrs. Neal Reyburn, R. F. D. No. 4, and John Mais, 905 South Quincy avenue, for overtime parking, and Vergil Jerrill, Jr., 734½ East Fifth street, for parking in a bus zone.

Funeral Tuesday

LIBERTY, Mo., Feb. 3.—(AP)—Funeral services will be held here Tuesday for Jefferson Davis Breckenridge, 85, a great grandson of James C. Breckenridge, vice president of the United States in 1857-61, who died here Saturday. Burial will be at his former home of Plattsburg, Mo.

Issue Liquor License

A license to sell liquor by the drink was issued by the county clerk to Simon Kanter's Liquor store, 201 West Main street. The license will expire June 30, 1947.

Collision of Cars Sunday

Damage resulted to the 1940 DeSoto coach of George C. Hoffman, 824 West Broadway, and to the 1930 Model A Ford of Dean Binderup, 1913 West Broadway, when they collided at Broadway and Stewart avenue, about 3:30 o'clock Sunday afternoon. Only slight injuries were received by the occupants of the vehicles.

Mr. Hoffman reported he was turning south on Stewart avenue, while the binderup car was headed east on Broadway, when the cars collided. The front bumper, left front fender and headlight were damaged on the Hoffman car, while the Ford was badly damaged.

Mrs. Ruth E. Binderup received lacerations on her legs and suffered shock and was taken to the Bothwell hospital, where she was treated. Mr. Hoffman suffered shock and was taken to his home. Neither is confined to their homes.

Police Chief Shot, Killed

OSAWATOMIE, Kas., Feb. 3.—(AP)—Chief of Police Michael F. Churchill, 48, was shot and killed today at the home of an Osawatomie Negro.

Accompanied by Harvey Earp, city engineer, Churchill had gone to the home of George Miller, 50, to serve a warrant charging assault after Mrs. Miller had complained that her husband had struck her during a quarrel over money matters.

Earp said the officer failed to find the man in the home, but that as they approached a nearby shed Churchill was yelled by a blast from a shotgun.

The police chief died almost instantly.

Truck Driver Dies In Trailer Camp

TONGANOIE, Kas., Feb. 3.—(AP)—A truck driver identified from papers on his person as Albert L. Scharafinski, 24, an employee of the United Transport, Inc., St. Louis, Mo., was found dead today in a cabin at a trailer camp on U. S. Highway 400 south of here.

Coroner Ted L. Sexton said the death was accidental and caused by carbon monoxide poisoning. A gas stove was burning in the cabin and the windows were closed, Sexton said.

Fatally Injured

ST. JOSEPH, Mo., Feb. 3.—(AP)—Gerald Louis Miller, 24, was injured fatally when thrown from his car while driving from here to his home at Easton, Mo., and died in a local hospital yesterday.

Miller, a garage mechanic, lost control of his car during the drive. He received a fractured skull.

He was a veteran of four years marine service. Most of that time spent in South Pacific campaigns.

Large Order for Flags

PHILADELPHIA, Feb. 3.—(AP)—It's going to take a year for 90 women employees at the army quartermaster depot here to fill an order for 169,000 American burial flags.

The flags will drape caskets of World War II servicemen being returned to the U. S. for reburial.

The women make about 600 daily.

have money and also because things purchased will cost more if they wait. Also important is the fact fewer are unemployed and we have more spenders.

"But on the downturn of prices the further they go the more people hold back on their purchases. The longer one can wait to buy, the greater the amount he can purchase with a dollar."

The stockpiling, instead of locking heavily, becomes more and more cautious and keeps inventory to a minimum. The manufacturer likewise reacts this way. Labor unions try to keep up their wage levels, but that merely means some people must go on unemployment.

"When prices rise, bankruptcies decline and when they fall they increase. Long term debts are easily paid on the upswing but difficult to pay on a declining price level."

Professional Men Feel Jolt "Professional men too, feel the jolt of price level changes. They may not greatly change their fees, but the doctor, the dentist, the lawyer and others have more business when prices rise and less as they decline. More important is the fact that fees are easy to collect as the price level rises but difficult to collect when it is declining."

"Yes, nearly everyone tends to do better financially when prices rise. This includes the farmer, industry and labor, the butcher, the baker and even the banker, whether you live in Sedalia, Centralia, Chicago, New York, or San Francisco. This is true whether you are a borrower or a creditor, a home owner or a renter."

"There are a few who benefit by declining prices. Those who live on insurance or pensions. Those who have retired and have their money in a secure place. These people, however, are badly hurt when prices rise. Some of these are also hurt by declines because things they own or their savings may be wiped out by business failure or inability of their debtor to pay his bills."

"Let me repeat our number one problem is the widely fluctuating price level. I am confident that enough is known about factors causing price levels to fluctuate that something can be done to make it more stable."

Helpful Measures

"What are some measures which would help? We must have a declared policy of the federal government that action will be taken to keep the purchasing power of the dollar more stable. Some actions to support that policy are:

"1. Control the expansion and contraction of credit."

"2. Change the price of gold."

"3. Adjust tax and spending program of the government."

"Though many would disagree, I believe it is desirable to set up definite action to be taken when our price level rises or falls from a given level. This I favor to remove this important function from political maneuvering."

"I am firm in saying the widely fluctuating price level is our number one problem. I believe it is possible to lessen this fluctuation. And, I am confident that we will have less friction, a smoother running economy and more likely to continue to have a democracy."

"This one objective — to stabilize the price level is one we can all support for the welfare of our country, our state, our city and for our individual good. There is no pressure group interest behind this objective for it will benefit all groups. Lastly, it is fundamental to free trade between nations which is fundamental to peace in the world."

Told of President's Death

The president called attention of headaches" in carrying out congressional provisions for veterans, particularly in speeding ironing out the insurance problem of 17,000,000 veterans who took out a total of 18,000,000 wartime government policies, but that "we're coming along in pretty good shape."

Bradley said he thought most veterans were "getting along pretty well" and spoke with great pride of the leadership qualities shown by those who returned to college.

"There is still unemployment, however," he remarked. "Full employment and lots of new housing are the veterans' greatest needs."

The general — born on Abraham Lincoln's birthday — will be 54 years old next week. His forehead is climbing a little higher and the gray shows more clearly on his temples.

Sentence 11 Former Nazis

HAMBURG, Germany, Feb. 3.—(AP)—A British military court today sentenced to death 11 former Nazi attendants at Ravensbrück concentration camp found guilty of killing and mistreating allied women prisoners. Two others received 15-year sentences and two 10 years.

The 16th defendant, Dr. Adolf Winkelmann, whom witnesses had described as "a devil doctor," who selected prisoners for extermination following a heart attack. No verdict was announced in his case.

The verdicts against the other 13 climaxed a nine-week trial, during which scores of witnesses testified to the horrors perpetrated at Ravensbrück.

Hemmed in by Landslides

SEATTLE, Wash., Feb. 3.—(AP)—Seventy or more motorists were trapped hemmed in today in a five-mile stretch of the Stevens Pass highway in the Cascade mountains by a series of landslides which caused at least two deaths.

Road crews were cutting through the slides. The slides, loosened by a 2.16 inch deluge of rainfall in a 48-hour period, were known to have caused the death of two children at Kirkland on the east side of Lake Washington.

The marooned motorists, however, were reported safe after being removed from the danger area by highway and forest service crews.

Bodies of the two children were found Sunday afternoon after rescuers had battled more than 12 hours with bulldozers, other heavy equipment and fire hoses to clear away the debris.

Mrs. Irene Cole's Funeral Wednesday

Pettis County Farm and Home News

Farm Income For 1947 Will Still Be High

Economist Says It May Be Some Below Past Year

The outlook for 1947 is that demand for agricultural products, agricultural production prices and income will continue high, but be moderately below those of 1946, reports Gordon B. Nance, extension economist of the University of Missouri College of Agriculture. Agricultural production probably will be above that of any year prior to 1943, and demand, prices and income above that of any year except 1946. Most of the decline in demand and prices is expected in the latter half of the year.

Demand for agricultural products may decline moderately. More quantities and varieties of manufactured goods will compete with agricultural products on the domestic market. Foreign demand, also is likely to show some decrease, due to lessened "relief" shipments, lack of dollar exchange by, and restoration of agricultural production in, foreign countries.

Prices for agricultural products, in view of the above supply and demand conditions, seem likely to average at least moderately below those of 1946, and sharply below those of the last quarter of that year, especially in the latter part of 1947.

Farm income, with probable decrease in both production and prices, is expected to decline at least moderately. Prices paid by farmers are likely to average moderately higher. Therefore net farm income may be materially lower than in 1946, but higher than for any year prior to 1943.

Higher Supply and Price—Farm supplies, in general, will be moderately higher in both supply and price than in 1946. Lumber, farm machinery, and wooden containers are among those in which supply is most likely to be short of demand.

However, since in nearly all lines of farm supplies, dealer stocks are still low and demand is high in relation to supply, farmers should be "forewarned" in laying in their requirements.

Farm labor may be slightly more plentiful in 1947, but wage rates probably will continue to rise, due to competition of industrial employers.

Farm land prices probably will continue to rise in 1947, at about the same rate as during the last 5 years—1 per cent per month. It

High Producer

An official report of January from the College of Agriculture, Columbia, gives an exceptional, high rating in production to Blumh Piebe Hera, aged 12 years, pictured above, which produced in that month 89 pounds of butter fat, equal to 11.25 pounds of butter. The cow is one of the registered herd of Holsteins belonging to John F. Blumh, of Smithton. Fifteen other cows in that herd gave over 1,000 pounds of milk, ten cows more than 40 pounds of butter fat each, and over 50 pounds, with four over 60 pounds. Two cows gave over 70 pounds of butter fat each.

now looks as though the peak in land prices should occur in 1948. The outlook for the different commodities in 1947, as compared to the preceding year, are:

Feed grains—slightly larger marketings, with prices about the same.

Beef cattle—slightly larger marketings, with prices about the same.

Hogs—slightly larger supplies, with at least moderately higher prices.

Sheep and lambs—slightly lower marketings and materially higher prices.

Wool—lower production with prices at about the same government level.

Dairy products—slightly smaller production and materially higher prices.

Poultry—slightly higher production with moderately higher prices.

Cotton—sharply higher production and less increase in consumption.

Burley tobacco—1946 crop; record production, prices moderately lower than in 1945; 1947 crop—moderate decreases in production and prices near government support level.

Potatoes—materially lower production with prices continuing at government support level.

Vegetables—moderately lower production and prices for both the fresh and the processing market.

Fruits—moderately larger production and moderately lower prices.

Still Short On Fertilizer Supply

Since all fertilizers still are in short supply, farmers can well give thought to growing some of the nitrogen needed on a farm. This can be done by including clovers in crop rotations, points out A. W. Klemme, extension soils specialist of the University of Missouri College of Agriculture.

Results show up clearly in tests conducted by the University of Missouri Agricultural Experiment Station. Over a period of 10 years, using sweet clover as a crop to be plowed under in a rotation which included corn, oats, and sweet clover—there was an increase of 15 bushels of corn and 6 bushels of oats per acre, as compared to where no sweet clover was grown.

Now is a good time to secure your sweet clover seed and seed it in small grains, says Mr. Klemme. Non-scarified seed should be bought. The soil on which it is to be seeded needs to be well supplied with lime, phosphate and potash. Unless sweet clover or alfalfa has been grown on the field recently, the seed needs to be inoculated.

Sweet Clover sown this winter or early spring can be used to furnish pasture this fall. Then, next spring it may be used for early pasture before being allowed to grow to a foot or more in height and then be turned under. A full crop of this second-year sweet clover plowed under when 12 to 18 inches tall, will release from 100 to 150 pounds of nitrogen. This is enough nitrogen to produce 65 to 100 bushels of corn. This method is the most economical way of having an ample supply of nitrogen for the 1948 crop. Much of this nitrogen is collected from the atmosphere by the legume bacteria living on the sweet clover roots.

Attractive, Well Arranged Kitchen

Farm Women Spend Lots of Time There And Are Making Them Convenient

Would you like an attractive, convenient and well arranged kitchen? Many farm homemakers in Pettis county want just that and are making plans for getting one in the future. The kitchen is the place where most farm homemakers spend about two-thirds of their time. It is the busiest place on the farm. Some of the activities which farm homemakers in extension clubs did in their kitchens last year were to prepare for freezing 225,000 pounds of meat, 53,500 pounds of fruits and 21,500 pounds of vegetables, to can 16,883 quarts of tomatoes, and 16,869 quarts of other vegetables as well, as many thousands of quarts of fruits and the making of pickles. Then too, there are three meals to prepare for ravenous appetites of working farmers, growing children, and farm employees and the dishes to wash and cleaning which follows. It is an important place.

Truly, shouldn't the farm women put the kitchen first in farm improvements? They want their kitchens conveniently arranged, attractive, easy to clean, and a cheerful place in which to live. In Balanced Farm and Home Planning, installation of electricity and water and the re-arrangement of the kitchen to provide adequate and convenient storage and work areas have priority in the farm homemakers' planning.

Limited Start

A few Pettis county farms may have a new kitchen which is the easiest to plan and arrange but most of the women must start with the limitations of their ready built kitchen and make it better. That doesn't discourage the farm homemaker for she begins her plans for making the most of what she has. She knows that the farm income will not allow her to make all her improvements in one year, but she knows that if she plans her kitchen she will save the expense of moving water pipes or installing extra electric outlets because they were incorrectly located to fit into the finished plans. She makes her plans and gives priority to the improvements that come first. It may take five years or even longer to carry out the plans but she knows her kitchen will be the best she can make it when completed. Mrs. Norman Gibson is one farm woman who had the pleasure of planning a new kitchen. Pictures taken in her kitchen showing the large double windows above the sink which gives Mrs. Gibson a complete view of all farm buildings and another set over the kitchen table not only make her kitchen light and attractive but makes it convenient for her to keep her eye on the farmstead.

Results Worth While

Mr. and Mrs. Gene Helman had the problem of remodeling their kitchen. Their result is a kitchen that anyone would love to have in city or country. Mrs. Helman said "We thought only rich people could have tile, but when we investigated we found that tile cost very little more than inlaid linoleum or other covering for our drain board and working space around the sink." It does give an attractive and easily cleaned surface for kitchen work space. Mrs. Helman also has a window above her sink which overlooks the farmstead. Her stove just fits between her cabinet and sink unit so they have utilized all the space to an advantage.

The Helmans bought knock-down cabinets and put them together, painted them and bought chromium fittings which add to the attractiveness of the kitchen. The picture of the Helman's kitchen shows the cabinet, sink and stove unit. The corner of the stove shows in the right hand corner of the picture.

Cost Will Be Less Later

The pictures taken of the Marvin Goodwin's kitchen shows how one can plan for changes to be made. Economists tell us that now is a good time to make plans, but it may be wise to wait a while to do the work as it might cost less next year. Mrs. Goodwin started her kitchen improvements by purchasing a new electric stove. Changes to be made, shown in picture No. 1 of the Goodwin's kitchen are for the cupboards, all four doors shown in the left half of the picture to come out and the entrance to the basement changed from the door on the right (in the same picture) to the space where the light-colored cupboard doors are. The present basement door will be taken out and the space made into wall.

The door in the picture No. 2 will be taken out and made into a wall. Mrs. Goodwin then plans to put in cabinets and a sink, making an L-shaped arrangement around the wall as shown in picture No. 3. The sink-cabinet unit will come on past the window which just shows in the right side of the picture. The floor will come out since it is no longer needed.

Mrs. Harry Runge has just put a new cabinet arrangement in her kitchen and plans to add another unit to her sink in the future. Mrs. Runge also has plans for her utility room.

Planning Extra Room

She knows that she wants a place other than the kitchen which will be convenient for her family to take off their coats and boots and hang them up before coming in the house. She will also use this room for canning and storing. The plans to move her old sink to this room or on the porch, just outside, to use for washing vegetables from the garden and for the men to wash their hands during the summer months. The utility room is a very good room for laundry if one doesn't wish to do it in the basement. Some farm women consider a utility room more convenient if they don't want to go up and down steps or if they have small children which need to be close to the mother while the laundry is being done. Whether or not one does the laundry upstairs or in the basement will be determined by the size of the utility room, the size of the basement, and the desires of the Homemaker. Mrs. Runge plans to move her laundry equipment to the basement and build closets for wraps and cleaning equipment in the utility room.

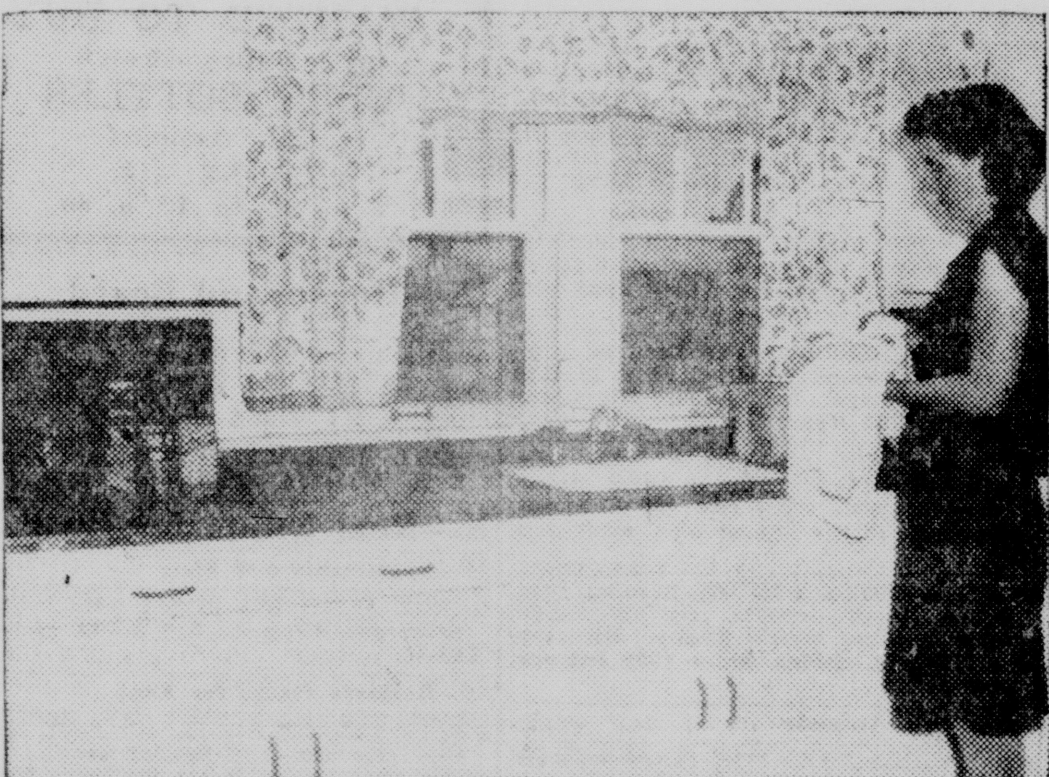

Other farm women have plans for improving their kitchens and have made progress on their plans. Others are ready to make plans.

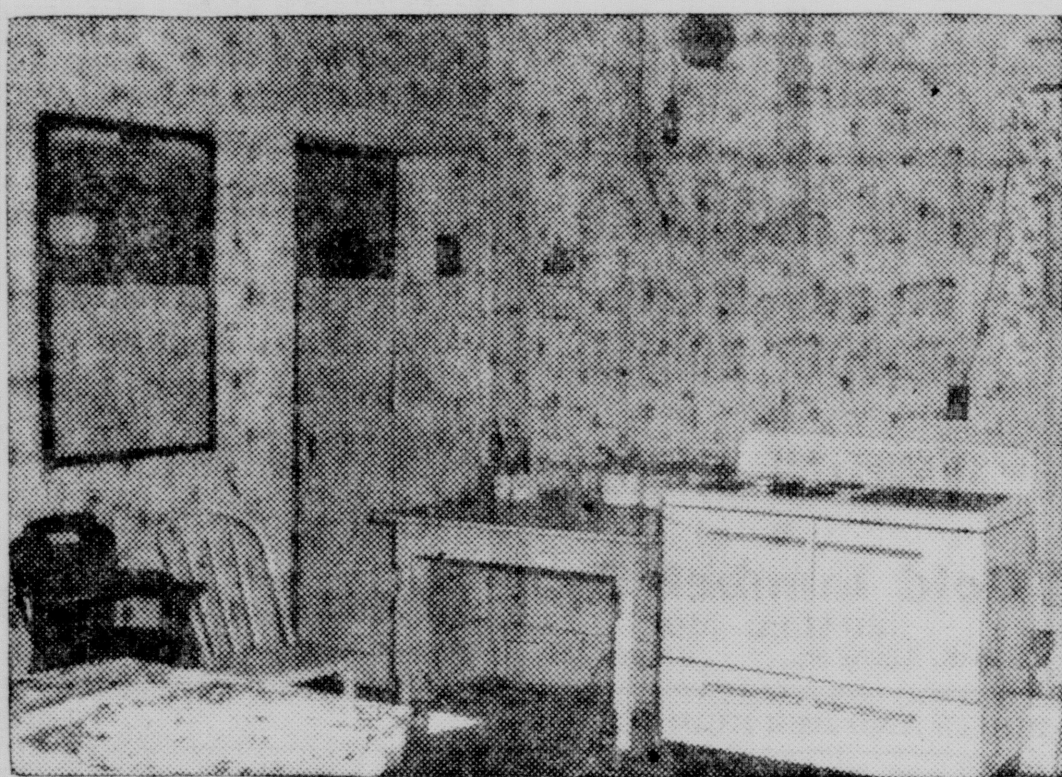

Mrs. Helman working in her kitchen. The picture shows the tile drain boards, the window which give an outdoor view over the farmstead and the corner of the electric stove which just fills the space between the cabinets and the wall.

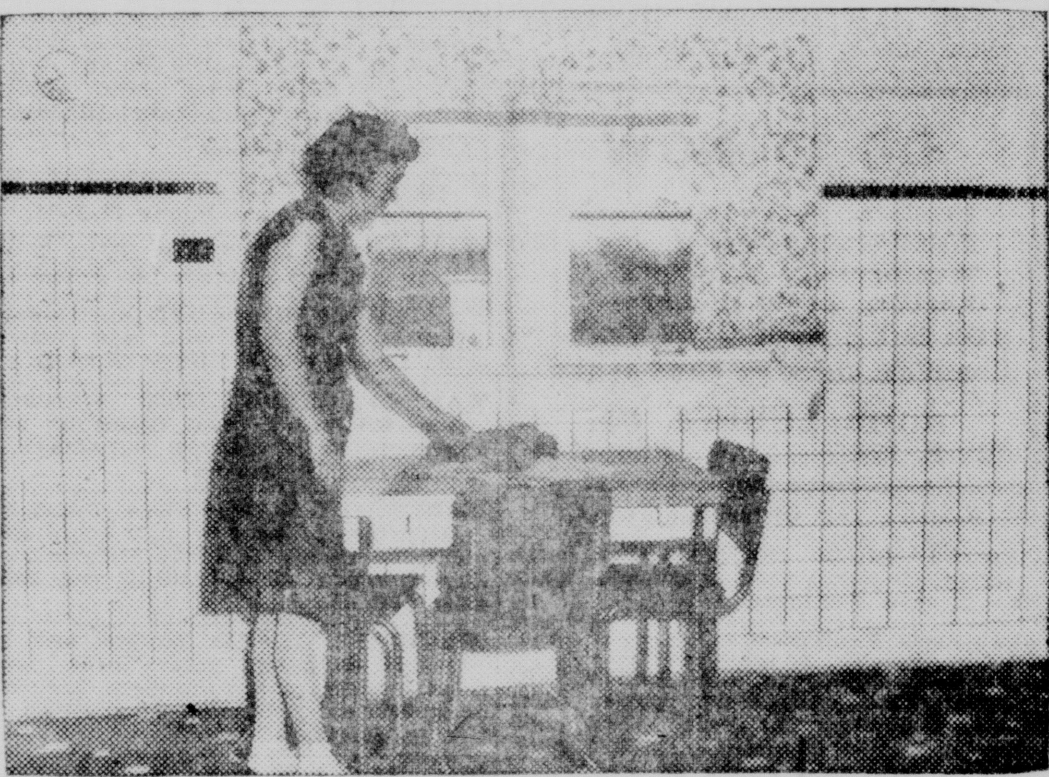

The Goodwin's kitchen picture No. 1 showing the cupboards on the left which are to come out and an entrance to the basement made there instead of the door on the right hand side of the picture.

Picture No. 1 of the Gibson's kitchen shows Mrs. Gibson at work in front of the large double windows which give Mrs. Gibson complete view of the farmstead while she works.

The Goodwin's kitchen picture No. 2—The door will be closed to make space for built-in cabinets. The new electric stove, the first improvement, on the right.

Picture No. 2—Mrs. Gibson has another view of the farm from the double windows over her kitchen table and wouldn't that be a pleasant place to have lunch?

DECORATION DAY A LONG TIME AWAY?

It isn't if you desire to have a Monument or Marker erected by then.

The eight weeks preceding May 30th are our busiest of the year, and some orders placed late cannot be completed by that time.

Be wise and place your order with the Heynen Monument Co., now. Let them have the time to give it the careful attention it needs to make a beautiful and lasting tribute to a loved one.

Select a memorial this month from the Heynen Monument Co., Ohio and Pacific St., and be assured that it will be erected before Decoration Day.

Delayed Honeymoon

CHICAGO, Feb. 3.—(AP)—Edward W. Predi, 28, fell downstairs at his home and suffered a broken leg while en route to his church wedding, but he arrived in a wheel chair only two hours later. The bride, Miss Betty Conway, 21, and 150 relatives and friends waited at the church Saturday without knowledge of Predi's misfortune. After the wedding the bandaged bridegroom returned to Evangelical hospital in an ambulance. The bride went alone to the wedding dinner and reception.

Illness Needn't Accompany Age

Between the ages of 45 and 65, more men than women are sick. After the 65th year, however, the rates are fairly equal in both sexes.

The best guarantee for a long life is to have long-lived ancestors. Many people who have lived to a ripe old age have been sick most of their lives.

Illness is not a necessary accompaniment of advancing age; many elderly persons remain well throughout their entire lifetimes. Short illnesses in childhood tend to be replaced by longer disabling conditions as we grow older, however, and for most of these attempts at cure avail less than do adjustments to their presence.

In 1943, it was estimated that 25 million persons in the United States were suffering from chronic ailments. If to this figure is added the 10 million persons who are disabled from accidents, one obtains some idea of the problem we must face.

Hardening of the arteries develops after the age of 45 as a result of wearing-out of the vessel wall and its replacement by hard material. In a way the replacement is an attempt at repair, and the only trouble which follows is that produced when the caliber becomes too narrow or a vessel ruptures.

High blood pressure and diabetes tend to increase artery hardening; good heredity is a factor in slowing down its development.

A larger number of older people develop cancer, and fear of this disease is prevalent in the aged. Cancers which develop from chronic irritation are preventable, and the early discovery of internal forms leads to cures. Cancer is one of the few chronic diseases which can be completely eradicated from the system if treated in time.

Check Nervousness, Fear
Arthritis and rheumatism are chronic, self-limited afflictions. They are diseases with ups and downs in which there is a large nervous element.

Most elderly patients with stiff, aching joints do better when they visit a health resort which provides a fairly regular schedule and a change of environment.

A physician who understands his patient is a valuable adviser for an aging person. Many of the problems which develop at this time of life are the result of nervousness and fear of disease, and constant reassurance may be necessary.

QUESTION: I had a slight stroke four years ago, but I can walk around. I want to cry at every little thing. If I do not take proper care of myself, am I apt to go insane?

ANSWER: No, you will not go insane. Persons who have had a stroke feel better when they are old and around, doing something useful. Hospital care is not ordinarily necessary after the attack has subsided.

Love Has Two Faces

Copyright, 1947, NEA SERVICE, INC.

By Irene Lonnen Ernhart

THE STORY: Mike Cargill has been mustered out of the Army and is due home, according to the newspaper, but he hasn't let Cassie Fletcher know he was coming. Cassie is deeply in love with Mike although there never was anything definite said between them. She looks forward excitedly to seeing him again. Leni, her younger sister, has a date with wealthy Lon Cavendish. Cassie thinks Leni runs around too much for a girl her age.

CASSIE waited all afternoon for Mike's call. Every time the phone rang she braced herself for his voice, and when the day had finally dragged by, her heart was heavy with disappointment.

She'd probably fooled herself about Mike for a long time. He hadn't written purposely. He'd wanted it to end like that. Just a gradual breaking off. Or, maybe there was somebody else now.

She put on the crazy little white flower hat, and powdered her nose and painted her mouth into a bright curve. The swift descent of the elevator didn't bother her tonight because she already had a gone feeling in her midriff.

And then when she stepped out of the elevator there he stood. She saw him at once, and her heart leaped like a live thing.

He leaned, one broad shoulder against the wall, his short, thin figure at ease, and smoked a cigaret. His hat was at that crazy angle he always used to wear it. A blonde brushed by, turned to look back at him. Mike was handsome. There was a certain devil-may-care look about him that attracted women.

"Hello Mike!" Cassie wished her heart wouldn't pound so.

Mike stood up, tossed his cigaret into the sand urn and swept off his hat. His blue eyes lit up, just the way they used to. He was very tanned, and a trifle thinner.

They stood looking at each other for a moment and Cassie wondered if he were going to kiss her. He didn't, but the way his eyes roved over her hungrily was enough.

"Cass, baby," his voice grew a trifle husky over the nickname, "did you miss me?"

THE street was a crazy blur, and there was just herself and Mike, walking along on a heavenly cloud, no other people, no traffic, no world—nothing.

He pressed her arm affectionately. "Here's the old jalopy, parked by the same old fireplug, and the same old cop waiting for me with a ticket!" Mike let go of her arm and held out his hand to the officer.

"Mike! You old son of a gun!" the cop cried. He shook hands with Mike, tipped his cap to Cass. "Up to your old tricks, too! Get that bus out of there boy, before I write you up one! It's grand to see you home again!"

They got in and Mike swerved the red roadster away from the curb. He drove up Main street to Carson, the street that ran along the tracks, and turned North, taking the long way home, past the old deserted Hamilton Machine works and across the creek bridge.

Just past the bridge over the creek he stopped the car, switched the ignition off and turned to look at Cassie. Unsmiling, intent, his blue eyes roved her face as if searching for something.

"Cassie!" His voice trembled

When she stepped out of the elevator there he stood. Cassie wished her heart wouldn't pound so.

"Cass, baby!" His voice was husky. "Did you miss me?"

ever so slightly. She was in his arms in a second, her face laid against the sandpaper roughness of his chin. He found her mouth eagerly, and kissed her until her senses swam, and her whole body was as loose as water.

"Oh Lord, Cassie, how I missed you! In that rotten prison camp, I thought about you all the time, day and night, cursing myself because I hadn't said something definite before I left, wishing I could touch you, wishing I could tell you how I really felt. Letters were no good, Cassie. Even now words are no good, not really."

"For the way I feel about you. Will you marry me, Cassie? Wait a minute now—before you answer."

He put his hands on her shoulders and pushed her away so that he could get a good look at her face.

"I've got a good thing all lined up, out on the coast. Another guy and I are going into business together. Just a small thing to start with, Cass, but a start toward something really big. We're going to pool our loans and set up a small shop first to make a gadget I've worked out."

"That's swell, Mike. I—"

He interrupted her, his voice bubbling up with enthusiasm. "Cassie, you and I'll get married tomorrow and start for San Francisco maybe—say Sunday!"

He tipped his head, his eyes shining off those queer electric gleams, his mouth curved in that funny boyish grin.

CASS was very still. She wanted to cry, suddenly. Her throat

Get Welcome Relief From Stomach Gas, Sour Food Taste

Do you feel bloated and miserable after every meal? If so, here is how you may rid yourself of this nervous distress. Thousands have found the way to be well, cheerful and happy again. Everything food enters the stomach a vital gastric juice must flow normally to break-up certain food particles; else the food may ferment. Sour food, acid indigestion and gas frequently cause a morbid, touchy, fretful, peevish, nervous condition, loss of appetite, underweight, restless sleep, weakness. To get real relief you must increase the flow of this vital gastric juice. Medical authorities, in independent laboratory tests on human stomachs, have by positive proof shown that SSS Tonic is amazingly effective in increasing this flow when it is too little or scanty due to a non-organic stomach disturbance. This is due to the SSS Tonic formula which contains special and potent activating ingredients. Also, SSS Tonic helps build-up non-organic, weak, watery blood in nutritional anemia—so with a good flow of this gastric digestive juice, plus rich red blood you should eat better, sleep better, feel better, work better, play better. Avoid punishing yourself with over-doses of soda and other alkalis to counteract gas and bloating when what you so dearly need is SSS Tonic to help you digest food for body strength and repair. Don't wait! Join the host of happy people SSS Tonic has helped. Millions of bottles sold. Get a bottle of SSS Tonic from your drug store today. SSS Tonic helps Build Sturdy Health.

The Daily Washington Merry-go-Round

Public opinion expert George Gallup proved to the last decimal point this week that more men would enlist in the army and navy if military authorities had a system whereby educational training in the service would count toward high school or college diplomas.

The army's information and education branch was glad to hear that they should educate servicemen, but they want to know one thing: Who's going to educate Dr. Gallup?

What he apparently doesn't know is that the United States armed forces institute makes every conceivable type of study course available to any soldier, sailor, marine or coast guardsmen who wants it. A total of 1,900,000 men already have acquired schooling via USAFI. Also, they've got credit for it. In the last year alone, 20,000 servicemen received high school diplomas via the army. These diplomas and USAFI's college courses are accepted for credit by almost every school in the country.

Gallup goes on to make the weird statement that army authorities question the idea of the army's going into the business of general education.

Clearly, none of Gallup's score keepers asked the secretary of war or power-packed General "Buck" Lanham, head of the army's information and education branch about this. They not only don't question it, but they do it; sending teachers and books and quizzes and lessons by the thousands all over the world.

Lanham is a combat soldier turned schoolteacher and good at both. He was commander of the 22nd regiment of the famous 4th division, holds decorations up to Distinguished Service Cross and including Purple Heart. A dynamic, unassuming brass hat, "Buck" Lanham is as sincere in his drive to give servicemen all the schooling they'll take as he was in his outfit's drive across France. And he has done just exactly what Dr. Gallup doesn't realize is being done—made books help take the course off bayonets.

Mysterious Rent Order
There were some very peculiar shenanigans behind the mysterious 10 per cent rent increase which President Truman suddenly killed last week. Inside fact is that the real estate lobby was so close to getting the rent hike approved that the OPA actually had its official announcement mimeographed and ready for release to the press.

Here is the inside story of what happened and how the CIO's canny Phil Murray killed the rent blitz.

At 11 a. m. Murray got a tip from an OPA employee that rents were going to be increased. Immediately he phoned presidential reconversion director John Steelman.

"John, I just learned that the OPA is drafting an order to raise rents 10 per cent through the office of temporary controls," Murray said. "The order is to be released today, effective February 1st."

"That's the first I've heard of it, Phil," replied Steelman.

However, he promised to look into it and call Murray back. Murray had a delegation ready to make a vigorous protest to Steelman but advised them to wait. Meanwhile he confirmed the fact that the order raising rents not only had been drafted, but was completed.

After lunch, having no word from Steelman, Murray dictated a blunt letter to the president, denouncing the rent increase as a violation of Truman's frequently violated agreement to "hold the line" on prices. He asked Truman how labor could be expected not to ask for higher wages and not to strike when landlords scalped the nation's tenants.

As Murray was finishing his letter, he received another call from his OPA informer saying that the order raising rents was about to be mimeographed for release to the press. Immediately he called Steelman again, asked what the presidential assistant had learned. Steelman said he hadn't been able to confirm the report, also that the president's position was well known as being opposed to any rent increase by the administration, except in the hardship cases.

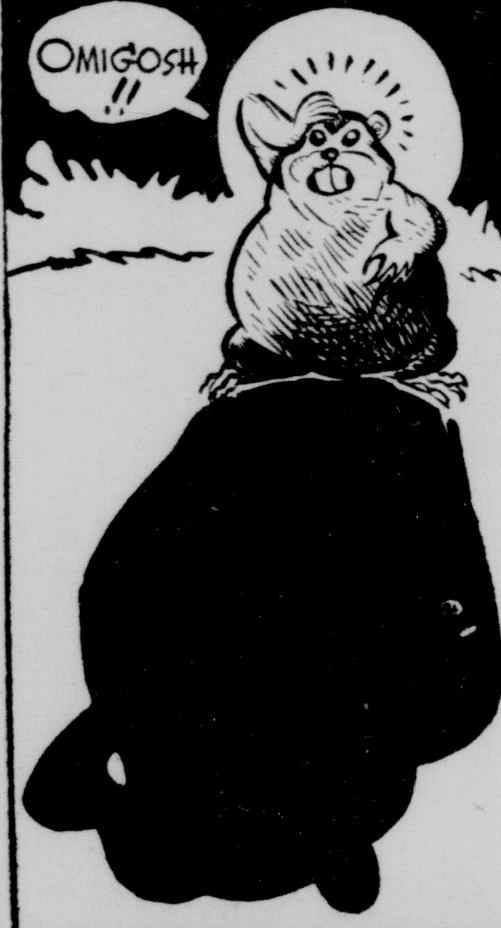

Steelman Stalls
"Well, I'm telling you, John, you'd better act on this immediately. I've got a letter here that I'm sending over to the president by messenger. I can assure you that there's going to be an awful lot of trouble for the administration if this thing goes through. I also have a delegation here that wants to see you right away. When can you see them?" Steelman said he was busy.

Hospitalized

Adml. Marc A. Mitscher, 60, wartime commander of famed Task Force 58, was taken to the naval hospital at Norfolk, Va., following a heart attack.

SIX WEEKS MORE WINTER WEATHER

Too bad! The groundhog saw his shadow.

couldn't see the delegation just then. Murray insisted that the delegation, which represented millions of tenants, had a right to be heard. He accused Steelman of giving him the run-around.

"I just can't see them now, Phil," said Steelman. "I'll call Bob Lamb (the CIO's legislative representative) when I'm free."

"All right, then," replied Murray. "I assume I'm getting the run-around so I'm going to send my letter over to the president immediately."

Murray hung up, let word leak to the press that the 10 per cent rent increase was in the bag. Newsman immediately queried the White House, which finally brought the matter to the president's direct attention when White House press secretary Charlie Ross laid the news ticker flash on the president's desk. Simultaneously, Murray's letter was placed in front of the chief executive.

At this point Truman hit the ceiling. "We'll nip this one in the bud," he said and ordered Ross to announce there would be no rent increase unless it was ordered by congress. In a matter of minutes the White House announcement was on the wires.

When OPA officials saw it, they turned green around the gills, hastily ripped up the order increasing rents 10 per cent, and reversed a previous press announcement that a "statement would be available from OPA."

So it was a double play from Murray to Steelman to Truman that blocked the real estate lobby's latest operation.

Air Crashes
Despite the recent series of air crashes, fact remains that commercial airlines hung up twice as good a safety record in 1946 as in 1945. Though the total number of aircraft fatalities increased, it is important to recall that the airlines flew twice as many passenger miles in '46. This cut the fatality rate in half.

Another factor most people overlook is that the civil aeronautics authority which regulates commercial flying is operating in the face of a pinch-penny congressional appropriation. In 1945 CAA's two-listed director, Theodore Wright, asked congress for $172,000 to develop bad-weather landing methods, but was given only $80,000. In 1940, with the airlines certain to get new burdens through reconversion and traffic snarls, Wright asked congress for $422,000, received only $148,000. Despite the small appropriation, CAA worked out a bad-weather instrument-landing system which has now been adopted by every country, including the Russians.

Note — Wright, a former vice president of Curtiss Wright, was the man who sold Roosevelt on the 50,000-planes-a-year building program, and had much to do with putting it over.

Interest in P. C. Library

There is a move in Pettis county for a library that would give service to residents of the county living outside the city of Sedalia. A county library for Pettis county will give good service to all the county through library branches, stations and bookmobiles. There would be a trained librarian in charge of these services.

Missouri law provides for the establishment of a tax supported county library, if voted by the citizens of the county, outside the city of Sedalia, at the regular school election in April.

This would be for a tax levy of one mill. If voted, the library would then receive financial aid from the state for the establishment of the library, plus assistance to aid in the continued operation. If the voters of Rural Pettis county do not avail themselves of this opportunity, they will only be paying for other county libraries through the loss of state aid.

Evaluation of the county outside Sedalia is $17,500,000, which would bring in $17,000 per year from a one mill levy. State aid would be in addition to this.
